DevWorks International Awarded USAID Feed the Future Northern Mali Activity

Washington, DC. (February 2, 2021) – DevWorks International (DevWorks) is pleased to announce the award of the United States Agency for International Development’s Feed the Future Northern Mali Activity, a five-year, $20 million project that aims to sustainably improve on-farm resilience to climate, economic, and conflict related shocks and stresses. The Activity contributes to Mali’s Global Food Security Strategy (GFSS) to sustainably reduce hunger, malnutrition, and poverty.

The Feed the Future Northern Mali Activity targets 36,000 farmers and 10,000 pastoralists for sustained intensification of integrated agricultural, fodder, and animal productivity in eight cercles in the Mopti region: Bandiagara, Bankass, Djenne, Douentza, Koro, Mopti, Tenenkou, and Youwarou; and four cercles in the Tombouctou region: Dire, Goundam, Niafunke, and Tombouctou. The activity will also work to improve agricultural production management practices on 54,000 hectares.

“The Feed the Future Northern Mali Activity contributes to the overall mission of DevWorks in creating stronger, more resilient communities around the world,” said DevWorks’ Chief Executive Officer, Demetria Arvanitis. “DevWorks looks forward to collaborating with our global and local partners who are committed to enhancing community resilience as we strive to implement creative solutions to improve the livelihoods of vulnerable Malian communities.”

The Feed the Future Northern Mali Activity works toward Feed the Future’s goal of strengthened resilience for targeted populations, promoting inclusive, sustainable, nutrition-sensitive, agricultural-led economic growth. It also supports the three GFSS objectives: 1) inclusive and sustainable agricultural-led growth; 2) increased resilience of people and communities; and 3) improved nutrition, especially among women, adolescent girls, and children.

About DevWorks International
